

"Birds: Winged Messengers" - March 2024

Birds are ubiquitous on our planet, and the number of species is astounding. They have been represented since the beginning of civilization as harbingers of change, messengers from the gods and spirits of our ancestors. Birds also connect people to their natural community, to their culture and to their stewardship responsibility.

What is it about birds that captivates your imagination? Use any medium, in any number of dimensions, to show us what you see.

This exhibit is graciously sponsored by Peregrine Audubon Society
